

I would like to express my opinion to the FCC that they leave Indiana's Telephone Privacy Law alone and that the FCC should NOT implement ANY proposal that would lessen our(IN) privacy law's protections.

I used to receive many unwanted calls(up to 12 per day) and now most days I don't receive any at all.

This has dramatically improved my time at home as I no longer get bothered during dinner time, mornings and evenings by unwanted solicitors.

I think the Indiana Telephone Privacy Law is the BEST thing that has been done to combat the terribly intrusive and unwanted soliciatation phone calls.

These solicitors are relentless and used to call at all hours of the day and night - yes even on weekends - before the privacy law took effect!

Solicitation calls are way out of hand and

I think it is outrageous that our government allow this kind of stuff to go on in our country.

PLEASE do not implement any proposal that would lessen Indiana's Telephone Privacy Law.

I and many others like me in Indiana LOVE this law and do NOT want it lessened in any way.

Thank you for your consideration

Sincerely,

Scott D. Meyer
